OmniTicket Network Awarded Certificate of Compliance for PCI Data Security Standard 1.1

(Orlando, FL) September 25, 2007- OmniTicket Network, the international leader in admission and venue management systems, announced today that they have received a Certificate of Compliance for PCI Data Security Standards. The award of this certificate confirms that OmniTicket Network is in full compliance with the Level 1 PCI Data Security Standard 1.1 as of September 14, 2007. The certificate was awarded following the onsite assessment conducted by an independent auditing firm, Crimson Security.

The PCI Data Security Standard represents a common set of industry tools and measurements to help ensure the safe handling of sensitive credit card information, and supports the prevention, detection and response to security-related events.

In response to OmniTicket Network's PCI Compliance certificate, Paolo Moro, President and CEO of OmniTicket Network, stated that, "Not only is the certification going to satisfy our most important client requirements, it will also set OmniTicket Network to a higher level of security and service compared to all of our direct competitors."

Mickey Carlson, the General Manager of OmniTicket Network's US office, observed that, "Our Clients can now feel completely confident that their customer's credit card data is being handled securely and that OmniTicket is strictly adhering to the standards set forth by the PCI Security Standards Council. " He went on to explain that, "It was very rewarding to our team to be able to communicate our PCI certification to our clients so that they can transact business confidently and securely."
